Aftershow MADE expo Milan (IT)

Crespano Parchetti

At the Crespano Parchetti stand we were introduced to the Antico Asolo multi-layer floor. This floor consists of three layers which are glued to each other with a formaldehyde-free adhesive. The top and bottom layers are made of solid wood which is 5mm thick. The floors are fitted with tongue and groove on the 4 sides and have a fine bevelled edge. The floors are available in different designs. A particularly attractive floor which is ecologically responsible at the same time is the design in heat treated oak and maple. This oiled floor has been christened 'Chocolat' (chocolate).

De Checchi

Luca De Checchi felt that the company's participation in Made Expo had been a success. This manufacturer of skirting boards had a stand together with Unydeco, a company which specialises in profiles and accessories for coatings. New profiles were on display at the stand, including the new Riverwood C range which includes skirting boards in different sizes, furnished with leather in different colours. Worthy of mention amongst the new products is the Allurivest collection, aluminium profiles in different sizes and coated (bronze, satin, and glossy).

Europavimenti

Europavimenti once again managed to establish plenty of valuable contacts at Made Expo. They had been delighted with the previous year and the excellent reactions to the collections. There were several candidates wanting to add the sale of Europavimenti products to their range, encouraged by architects who were very interested in the extensive possibilities offered by Europavimenti. And so, this company from Zoppola is also expecting a very good year. Amongst other things, visitors were attracted by 'High Gloss', one of the new lines in the 'Avaguard'. 'High Gloss' is a glossy floor collection which is also high-tech and extremely resistant. Europavimenti floors are abrasion-resistant and have a 12 year guarantee for normal use. Moreover, the floors are waterproof. The High Gloss is functional and easy to maintain.

Florian Parchetti

Florian Parchetti presented its Florian Collection in Milan. This company specialises in engineered flooring and offers both two and three-layer floors. The three-layer floors include the Artefló Trend (based on Siberian larch), Artefló Design (based on oak, wengé, or larch), and the Artefló Lip Gloss (oak, larch, and zebrano). The two-layer pre-finished floors are finished with 5 coats of UV lacquer which gives the same effect as oil. These two-layer floors consist of different dimensions and thicknesses (10, 11, and 14mm) and a wide variety of wood sorts. The Akkaci High Contract range is a high-tech floor which is recommended for large surfaces because of its sophisticated joint system.

Forest Parchettificio

At Made Expo in Milan, Forest Parchettificio displayed a new range of design wooden floors. Palladio is the new range of pre-finished engineered panels and Leonardo the solid wood pre-finished panels. The sections appear with tongue and groove on the 4 sides and are fully glued onto the subfloor. These floors can be supplied sanded, oiled, or lacquered, as required by the client. And so, the company provides excellent products and, in particular, flexible service and attracted plenty of attention from the visitors at Made Expo.

Garbelotto/Master Floor

The second Made Expo was a success for Garbelotto and Master Floor, so they were absolutely delighted. The two major new products for 2009 which were presented exclusively in Milan lured plenty of visitors to the stand. Gold Listo-Floor is the latest acquisition in the Garbelotto assortment.
